AFTER-FORTY YEARS OF ARMY SERVICE

Colonel Wallace Enters Private Life—Solved Problem of Fighting in Morocco.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—After forty years' service in the army, Col. William M. Wallace of the 15th Cavalry was placed on the retired list today on his own application. Born in Wisconsin, Col. Wallace began his military career as first lieutenant of the 12th New York Artillery in March, 1864, and entered the regular army in 1866, as second lieutenant of the 8th Infantry. He served in the infantry until December, 1870, when he was transferred to the cavalry arm of the service. In the days when the water cure was creating such a furor both in the Philippines and in the United States Col. Wallace devised a means for restraining murderous Mohammedans in Jolo which was far more effective than the cruel practices of many other officers. He understood the religious prejudices of the Mohammedans as well as that by endeavoring the eternal happiness of Moro outlaws he frightened them into submission. In 1902, when Mohammedan religious fanatics were making a practice of feigning insanity and running through the streets murdering Christians, Col. Wallace took the body of one of the fanatics who had been killed by soldiers and had it placed in a grave near the market place, and after a large crowd had gathered the colonel ordered a hog killed and had the body of the unclean beast trampled over the grave, where the blood trickled down upon the dead Mohammedan. This defilement of a son of the prophet, in the minds of the Mohammedans, condemned the man's soul to eternal damnation and created a panic among the followers of Mahomet, who thereafter desisted from promiscuous killings.

Today the State Railroad Commission is hearing arguments brought by the Sugar Beet Companies of Janesville, Chippewa Falls and Menomonie Falls for lower rates on the railroads delivering beets to their factories. According to the complaints filed these rates are held to be excessive, both on the transportation of the beets themselves and also on the shipment of sugar beet pulp. There is, however, a hitch in the proceedings owing to the fact that no definite rate for these commodities has been asked for by the complaining companies. The shipment of beets to the local factory has begun and both wagons

MILLIONAIRES OF RHODE ISLAND IN SENATE RACE

Three-Cornered Fight Between Present Incumbent, Anti-Trust Man And Prominent Business Man.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Providence, R. I., Oct. 2.—After months of preliminary skirmishing the political campaign in Rhode Island, whose nominal object is the election of a United States senator to succeed George F. Wetmore, has been fairly opened. Senator Wetmore is busy making speeches in cities and towns throughout the state. Col. Robert H. I. Goddard, nominated at a primary convention, the first in the history of Rhode Island, as an independent candidate for the senate, has returned from Europe, and Col. Pomroy Colt, president of the United States Rubber company, popularly known as the rubber trust, is on the scene to direct his campaign. The contest in Rhode Island this year nominally involves a senatorship only, with a three-cornered fight in progress between Mr. Wetmore, who holds the seat, Col. Goddard, the candidate of the democrats, and their republican allies, and Col. Colt, the alleged candidate of the republican organization of which Senator Nelson W. Aldrich is the dominating force. Beyond and beneath the aspirations and ambitions of these rival candidates, the campaign involves, possibly, the future political status, economic policy and public morale of the state. The former letter of acceptance of Col. Goddard supplies the keynote of the campaign. It is generally regarded as a severe indictment of the republican party and its present management. Mr. Wetmore depends for success upon the assumption that possession is nine points of the law. Col. Goddard relies upon the statement of his letter of acceptance that the people want to down the corrupt bosses, strangle the autocracy and effect tariff reform. Col. Colt is banking on his very keen longing to go to the senate, his wide business connections throughout the state, his personal popularity, and his general idea that if the Goddard theory that the people are struggling to be free of bosses and the protective tariff is unsound he will be able to win over the machine.

COMMISSIONERS OF INSURANCE GATHER

National Association Will Be Too Busy to Have Banquet or Social Session This Year.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—What is regarded as the most important meeting in the history of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners began today at the Arlington hotel, to continue until February. It is the thirty-seventh annual meeting of the association and the attendance includes the insurance commissioners of nearly every state of the union. The importance of the meeting is indicated by the fact that the commissioners have decided to eliminate the usual banquet and attendant festivities from the program and devote the time wholly to business. The most important work of the meeting is to be the consideration of a proposed uniform insurance law. The initial step in securing the enactment of such a measure was taken at a conference held in Chicago last February at the instance of President Roosevelt. A special committee of this conference met in Minneapolis last month in connection with the assembling of the American Bar association, and the bill drafted by the committee is supposed to contain the best thought of the lawyers and insurance men of the United States. The measure will be acted upon by the present convention and later introduced in congress. Little has yet been made public in regard to the measure, but it is in the form of a general law for the District of Columbia and the territories, and is intended to form a model of legislation for enactment by the several states.

MAJORITY FOR A SUBSTITUTE

COUNCIL MINORITY OF FOUR WAS OVER-RULED.

ON FRANCHISE QUESTION

Measure Widely Differing From Original Application Was Adopted Paragraph by Paragraph.

After star chamber deliberations of the city council as a whole extending over a period of three hours, the judiciary committee just before midnight last evening reported a substitute compromise grant to the Janesville & Madison Interurban Ry. Co. The measure was given its first and second readings and the same was done with amendments thereto relieving the company from paying between its tracks, as required in the substitute franchise provision until the city shall have attained a population of 15,000, permitting the said interurban railway to haul the freight cars of the steam railways on North Main street, street of Prospect Ave. and on North Bluff street north of the railway viaduct, and stipulating that if another street railway shall at any time be granted a franchise the Janesville & Madison concern shall permit the new company to run over its tracks upon terms to be fixed by the council in case the owners of the road are unable to agree. No attempt was made to suspend the rules and give the measure and amendments their third reading. The franchise as amended will not be passed until the council meets again.

Limitation of Rights.
The grant is made contingent upon the purchase by the interurban company of the Janesville Street Ry. property. It is stipulated that the tracks of the latter institution shall not be paralleled.

The Janesville & Madison Co. is permitted to lay no additional tracks on that portion of North Franklin street now in use by the Beloit, Delavan Lake and Janesville Co. but must make terms with the latter for the joint use of its tracks.

Before entering upon construction work the new company must file its plan of the streets to be traversed and this shall constitute an abandonment of all other routes.

The gauge of the track is fixed at 4 feet 8 1/2 inches. It is stipulated that the fare within the city limits shall not be over five cents and that the payment thereof shall entitle the passenger to a transfer good on the R. B. & J. Interurban road within the corporate limits.

The duties of the company in the matter of keeping the tracks clear of ice, snow, dirt, and other debris; non-interference with fire hose; and the rights of the cars to an unobstructed way at ordinary times, are defined. Some of the more important sections of the measure are as follows:

Some Sections of Measure.
Section 1. The Janesville & Madison Railway Company, its successors or assigns, is hereby granted for the full term of fifty (50) years from and after the passage of the ordinance and the acceptance thereof, the right and authority to construct, maintain and operate a street railway, with single track and all necessary switches, sidetracks, turnouts, wyes, poles, wires, curves and other fixtures, for the carriage of passengers, baggage, light freight, mail and express, and for the passage and operation over said railway, interurban as well as urban cars, belonging to said company or any other company or companies, except cars owned or operated by a railway company using steam as a motive power, which may hereafter acquire the right by lease or otherwise, from said Janesville & Madison Railway Company, in, along and upon the streets described in the original application.

Maintenance of Streets.
"Whenever the city of Janesville shall pave, repave, macadamize, re-macadamize, or otherwise improve any street or streets over which said track or tracks shall pass, said company shall pay the actual cost of such paving, repaving, macadamizing, re-macadamizing or improvement for a space of seven (7) feet for single track, and fourteen (14) feet for double track, and the cost and expense of such portion of said pavement or improvement shall be assessed and become a charge against the property of said company, and collectible in the same manner as prescribed by law for the collection of special assessments against real property fronting on any street or streets which have been ordered paved or improved by action against said company, at the option of the common council. Provided that in computing said strips of seven (7) feet and fourteen (14) feet, the space included within the tracks of said railway shall be included as a part thereof. When such railway crosses or runs on any street or avenue that has been paved or improved, said company shall lay its tracks, and put the paving back to the satisfaction of the street commissioner, so as to restore said street or avenue to as good condition as before the track was laid."

Car Requirements.
Section 4. Said Janesville and Madison Railway Company shall place and maintain upon its said railway approved motor cars for its passengers, with the modern conveniences for their comfort, lighting, said cars at night and comfortably heating. The same in cold weather. Each motor car shall, unless the common council otherwise prescribes, be provided with a headlight, which shall be kept burning after sunset, and be provided with danger signals. The said company shall keep its road in operation when built and in the operation of its road shall cause its urban passenger cars to make at least half hour trips over the road each way during the hours from six o'clock a. m. to eleven o'clock p. m. on week days and from seven-thirty o'clock a. m. to ten-thirty o'clock p. m. on Sundays, excepting when prevented by unavoidable accident or labor strikes.

Light Freight Defined.
The light freight and express matter, heretofore referred to, shall be constructed to mean and cover only the carriage of light freight and express of the character and kind carried by the commercial steam railways of today and in no sense to be interpreted or construed as a grant, franchise or license to carry through the city of Janesville live-stock, unless singly crated, or heavy freight of any nature whatever contrary to the letter and spirit of the above restriction and in no other way or manner save in express cars fully enclosed of the pattern of design designated in section four of this ordinance. The common council shall have the power and authority to prescribe the number of express cars coupled together and running over the streets on said railway at any one time. Except that said company shall have the right and authority to operate and run over its tracks in said city, two (2) express cars coupled together, including the motor car, at any one time."

STUDENTS AGAINST HAZING PRACTICES

Undergraduates Decide to Abolish Hazing—Also Regulate Class Rush To Render it Harmless.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Oct. 2.—At a meeting of the student conference committee consisting of representatives of all the literary societies, fraternities, and every other important student organization of the university, it was decided to abolish all forms of hazing at the University of Wisconsin. The sentiment of the members of the student conference committee against hazing was unanimous, and as the committee is a representative one, the action expressed the consensus of opinion of all upper classmen.

Sub-Committee.
A sub-committee was appointed to look into the matter of hazing and discuss the ways and means of putting a stop to these practices. The committee will report at the next meeting, when definite action will be taken. The committee on hazing consists of J. Earl Baker, Eagle, chairman; Harold J. Weeks, Stevens Point; Walter S. Underwood, Milwaukee; Edgar E. Robinson, Oconomowoc; Dexter H. Witte, Wausau.

To Regulate Rushes.
The conference also discussed the annual freshman-sophomore rush, and decided to eliminate all danger from the contest and to make it a test of the relative strength of the two classes. A series of regulations drawn up by the conference last year with a view to abolish dangerous forms of contest have been accepted by the sophomore, junior, and senior classes, and will govern the struggle this year. A committee of twenty upper classmen will be appointed by the students to see that the regulations are carried out, and to prevent roughness. The student committee who are to take charge of the contest this year is composed of Albert A. Johnson, McFarland; Allan Hibbard, Milwaukee; B. F. Davis, Madison; J. H. Coc, Barron; Overt Sletten, La Crosse.

THE CITY COUNCIL SESSION

Considerable Important Business Was Transacted at Meeting Last Evening.

Reports were received from several of the city departments at the regular meeting of the common council last evening. That of the municipal court for September showed that fines amounting to $78, marshal's fees totaling $10.20, and court fees of $24.80 had been collected. Supt. George T. Croft's statement showed that the stone-crusher had delivered 295 yards during the two weeks ending Sept. 29. Assistant Street Commissioner Thos. McKune recommended that new walks be ordered built in front of the N. W. of the N. 2 1/2 of numbered lots on the west side of block 12, Rockport addition, on Cherry street; lots 11 to 21 of Mitchell's 4th addn. on West Milwaukee street; and lots 8 and 9 of block 13, Palmer & Sutherland addn. on Center avenue. The report was adopted and the walks ordered built. The city treasurer's report for August was received and read. Favorable action was taken of the finance committee's reports on bills and the salary list, and the report of the street assessment committee on the completion of the paving work on North and South River streets, coupled with a resolution to the effect that $1,944.00, or the total cost of $5,031.64 be assessed to the real estate benefited. The clerk was instructed to draw an order on the treasurer in favor of A. E. Rutledge & Co. in the sum of $770.00 payable from the general fund, for paving work in the alleyways in the rear of the postoffice and in front of the West Side fire station.

Work on the Highways.
A grade for South Bluff street from Clark to Racine and sidewalk grades for the east side of East street from Milwaukee to Court and the west side of North River from Mineral Point avenue to Madison street, were submitted by the city engineer and adopted. T. H. Edden and nine other owners of property fronting that section of Oakland avenue lying between Jackson street and Forest Park boulevard, offered a petition asking that the distance from curb to curb at 40 feet instead of 42 feet and that the outer edges of 42 foot walks be three feet from the curb line. An order embodying these recommendations was passed. The street commissioner was instructed by order to dump all dirt, ashes, and other surplus matter (except garbage) at the mole culvert, with the accompanying provision that the man now employed on the city dump be transferred to lay brick crosswalks across Terrace street between Racine and Mineral Point avenue, across Highland on the west side of Washington, at the corner of Academy and School streets, and a crosswalk and gutter combined across S. Bluff street on the south side of S. First; to repair that portion of McKee boulevard between the St. Paul tracks and the Choate-Hollister factory; to repair Dodge street with crushed stone, and clean the gutters on Holmes street. The city engineer was instructed by order to file sidewalk grades for the north side of Court street from Jackson to Sinclair, for the east side of Garfield avenue from Ruger avenue to Norcross street, and for the east side of Holmes street from Franklin to River street. The mayor and city clerk were delegated to draw up an agreement with the Northwestern and St. Paul railroad companies with reference to a sewer construction of a sewer properly drain the low section of land at the Five Points and the corner of West Bluff and Academy streets. Barriage Bros. were given permission to move a small building of half block on N. Bluff and one block on N. First street.

Miscellaneous Business.
The chief engineer was directed to sell the horse now used in the fire department and known as "Frank," and to purchase another to replace him. The city clerk was directed to purchase an atlas of the world for use in the city offices at a cost of not to exceed $15. He was also directed to draw $5 orders on the treasurer payable to the railroad clerks who are located at the recent primaries, as well as an order on the treasurer in the sum of $100, payable from the bridge fund in favor of the Wisconsin Bridge & Iron Co. for the balance due on the Court street bridge contract. The transfers of the saloon license of Sheridan & Byrne to 54 West Milwaukee street and that of William Lentz from 54 West Milwaukee street to 6 South River street, were authorized. The clerk was directed to cause an advertisement of the sale of the bonds for the River street and post-office alley improvements to appear in the official paper for four successive weeks. He was also instructed to prepare and present a statement and schedule of the assessments on the foregoing improvements, which property owners had not elected to pay.

Opinions of City Attorney.
City Attorney Maxfield to whom was referred the question as to whether the wage fund could be made to pay for the paving of certain intersections, held that the assessment for North and South River streets had already been made up and that it was too late to make alterations. With reference to the breaking of the main under the Jackson street bridge for which the Water Co. has presented a claim of $94 against the city, he held that if the breakage was caused by negligence and carelessness of the city workmen in permitting a heavy timber to fall from the cap of the pier, as alleged, the city was probably liable.

William H. Cook, Fall River, is on trial in the federal court at La Crosse charged with fraud through the mails. He is charged with obtaining a fine from a Chicago music house on approval and attempting to sell it in Milwaukee.

The supporting company contains the names of some of the best known people in the profession and an artistic performance is assured.

Some times the joke is in the policeman, and Harry Beresford, who is starting in "The Woman Hater," tells a good one. "It happened in Central Park," said Mr. Beresford, "and I say enough to grasp the fun of the situation. A small boy was standing near one of the ponds and was crying bitterly when the copper spied him."

"What's the matter, sonny," he shouted. "The youngster pointed to a hat that was bobbing up and down in the water, and sobbed, 'My brudder!'"

"While I was waiting to hear what the boy was about to say, the brave policeman plunged into the water and after diving several times swam back to shore."

"I can't find your brother," said he. "Where was he when he fell in?" "He didn't fall in," answered the boy, who had been gazing with open-mouthed amazement at the policeman's proceedings. "He's over there. I was going to tell you that he threwed my hat in the lake, but you wouldn't Milburn's Lecture.—The lecture last Tuesday evening by the Blind Preacher, was not a paying venture into some thirty or forty dollars. The lecture, however, was excellent.

A Light Fingering, Servant.—Julia Peterson, a Norwegian servant girl in the employ of Dr. J. B. Whiting, took occasion to leave yesterday afternoon getting her wages and by mistake took a very valuable dress belonging to Mrs. Whiting. The doctor sent an officer on her track, who arrested her last evening, near the depot. The dress was recovered and the girl sent to jail. The doctor thinks she is an old hand at the business.

Theatre Lappin's Hall.—Mr. Dillon was last night greeted with an appreciative audience and the applause and shouts of laughter which greeted his performance proved how highly all were pleased and delighted. The entertainment throughout was a great success, and tonight "Everybody's Friend," in which Mr. Dillon plays his great characters of Major Wellington de Boots, and Paul Parent in "Love in Livery" will afford another evening's feast of mirth to all who may witness the eccentricities of the above true son of Momus.

To every one we say go and see "Everybody's Friend" and "Love in Livery" tonight.

Tasting Booths on the State Fair Grounds.—As far as we have been able to ascertain, the net receipts of the different booths on the State Fair Grounds are about as follows: Baptists, $200; Unitarians, $200; Congregationalists, $200; Spiritualists, $200. The Old Folks sustain a loss of $300. The Good Templars realized something out, we have not as yet learned the exact amount.

TALK ON STREETS AS THE ACTION OF THE COUNCIL

Word from Mr. Clough is Anxiously Awaited as to What He Thinks of Matter.

By their action last night of passing a substitute measure to its third reading, the fate of the franchise for an interurban asked for by Mr. Clough is a question of much import in the city today. Not only is it a question in Janesville itself, but telephone messages have been received from Milton, Edgerton, Stoughton, Madison and numerous farmers along the proposed line of road asking for the outcome. What will be the outcome it is hard to say. Mr. T. S. Nolan, Mr.
Clough's attorney, has tried all day to reach Mr. Clough at his home in Elkhart, Ohio, by long distance telephone, but has thus far not been successful. Mr. Clough's attitude on the matter is awaited with interest.
Some time ago he stated that he must have the franchise, he requested, or he would not accept any ordinance not drawn up by his attorney. It is talked today that the present franchise was not even drawn up by the city attorney as one would expect, but by another attorney asked into the conference by members of the judiciary committee. Then, too, the star chamber session of the council last night behind closed doors, when as a committee as a whole it considered the franchise, it finally decided upon as the only one they could grant Mr. Clough is subject to adverse, though perhaps unjust, criticism.
There was a good-sized gallery of interested business men who waited in the "outer" chamber until after eleven on for the report to be made, men who are vitally interested in the building of the road and the aid it would have been to the city, who are apparently ignored. Of course, this is right and proper for the council to do, but the criticism is that in a matter of such importance everything should have been open and above board. The fate of the interurban now lies with Mr. Clough to decide whether he wants to accept what is offered him or not.

THE APOLLO CLUB'S PLANS FOR SEASON

Met Last Evening to Arrange For Coming Season's Musical Work.

At the annual meeting last night
William Bladen and Clarence P.
Beers were re-elected directors. Following this the Board of Directors re-elected the officers of last year.
The financial report shows that it took all of the receipts for the year from dues to pay the mere traveling expenses of the artists who gave such a splendid series of concerts. They came for expenses as the club, as new, and with the understanding that in the future proper compensation should be given. To meet the expenses for the coming year the club, by an almost unanimous vote, raised the annual dues to $5.00. This, however, includes the two public concert, which will probably be given in the congregational church, in addition to the regular ten concerts in Library Hall. The first of the two public concerts will be given in November and it is safe to say that it will be the most notable musical event ever given in this city. It will cost the club several hundred dollars for the artists and the price of tickets to those who are not members of the club will probably be fixed at $1.00. All club members will be admitted on their membership cards without further charge. The Mendelssohn Club of Rockford charges $5.00 annual dues, besides an initiation fee of $5.00. No initiation fee will be charged the coming year, but it is the purpose of the Apollo Club to charge an initiation fee to all new members for the season of 1907. So it is advisable for everyone desiring to become an associate member to do so now. The first club concert will be given at Library Hall Monday night, October 15th. It will be a very fine one. Members can get their season cards from Secretary Beers at his office in the Jackson building. They must be paid for before the concert on the 15th.

"Go on," said Osear to him.

"Where's the wages you and Mr. Meredith has paid him for those forty men?" pursued Joseph. "Where's the advance you made him for those men at Asuka? No one has any of it here they fingered. And what? Cos they're slaves. Fifteen months at $50-let them as can reckon for it up, for themselves. That's his first swindle—and there's others, sir. Oh, there's more behind. That man's just a jobbed off of crime. But this 'ere slave owning is enough to settle his hash, Patrick."

"Let us have these men here; we will hear what they have to say," said Osear in the same dull tone that frightened Victor Durnovo.

"Not you," he went on, laying his hand on Durnovo's shoulder, again. "Joseph will fetch them, thank you."

"So the forty or the thirty-seven survivors, for one had died on the journey up and two had been murdered—were brought. They were peaceful, timorous men, whose unworldly seemed to have been crushed out of them; and slowly, word by word, their story was got out of them. Joseph knew a little of their language, and once the headlighting men knew a little more and spoke a dialect known to Osear. They were slaves, they said at once, but only on Osear's promise that Durnovo should not be allowed to shoot them. They had been brought from the north by a victorious chief who in turn had handed them over to Victor Durnovo in payment of an outstanding debt for ammunition supplied.

"I gave this place at sunrise tomorrow," said Osear to them all. "I never want to see it again. I will not touch one penny of the money that has been made. I speak for Mr. Meredith and myself."

"Likewise me," put in Joseph. "I speak as Mr. Meredith himself would have spoken. There is the simlacine. You can have it. I won't touch it. And now who is going with me—who leaves with me tomorrow morning?"

He moved away from Durnovo. "And who stays with me," cried the half-breed, "to share and share alike in the simlacine?"

Joseph followed Osear, and with him a certain number of the blacks, but some stayed. Some went to Durnovo and stood beside him. The slaves spoke among themselves and then they all went over to Durnovo.

So that which the placid moon shone down upon was the breakup of the great simlacine scheme. Victor Durnovo had not come off so badly. He had the larger half of the men by his side. He had all the finest crop the trees had yet yielded, but he had yet to reckon with high heaven!

CHAPTER XX.

SIR JOHN MEREDITH was sitting stiffly in a straight-backed chair by his library fire. In his young days, men didn't loll in deep chairs, with their knees higher than their heads. There were no such chairs in this library, just as there was no afternoon tea except for ladies. Sir John Meredith was distressed to observe a great many signs of the degeneration of mankind, which he attributed to the indulgence in afternoon tea. Sir John had lately noticed another degeneration—namely, in the quality of the London gas. So serious was this falling off that he had taken to a lamp in the evening, which lamp stood on the table at his elbow. There was nothing dismal or lonely about this old man, sitting in evening dress in a high-backed chair, stiffly reading a scientific book of the modern, cheap science, tenor—not written for scientists, but to step in when the brain is weary of novels and afraid of communicating with itself. Oh, no! A gentleman need never be dull. He has his necessary occupations. If he is a man of intellect he need never be idle. It is an occupation to keep up with the times.

He paused in the midst of a scientific definition and looked up with interesting eyes. He had got into the way of listening to the passing wheels. Lady Cantourne sometimes called for him on her way to a festivity, but it was not that.

The wheels he heard had stopped. Perhaps it was Lady Cantourne, but he did not think so. She drove behind a pair, and this was not a pair.

A few minutes later the butler silently threw open the door, and Jack stood on the threshold. Sir John Meredith's son had been given back to him from the gates of death.

The son, like the father, was in immaculate evening dress. There was a very subtle cynicism in the thought of turning aside on such a return as this to dress to the care of a wretched and brush imperceptibly ruffled hair.

"There was a little pause, and the two tall men stood half bowing, with a marvelous similarity of attitude, gazing steadily into each other's eyes. And one cannot help wondering whether it was a mere accident that Jack Meredith stood motionless on the threshold until his father said, 'Come in.'"

"Thomson," he continued to the butler, with that pride of keeping up before all the world which was his, "bring up coffee."

The butler closed the door behind him. Sir John was holding on to the back of his high chair in rather a constrained way, almost as if he were suffering pain. They looked at each other again, and there was a resemblance in the very manner of raising the eyelids. There was a stronger resemblance in the gleam, grating silence which neither of them would break.

At last Jack spoke, approaching the fire and looking into it. "You must excuse my taking you by surprise at this unusual hour." He turned, saw the lamp, the book and the eyeglasses, more especially the eyeglasses, which seemed to break the train of his thoughts. "I only landed at Liverpool this afternoon," he went on, with hopeless politeness. "I do not trouble you with a telegram, knowing that you object to them."

"The old man bowed gravely. "I am always glad to see you," he said suavely. "Will you not sit down?"

"And they had begun wrong. "I suppose you have died," said Sir John when they were seated, "or may I offer you something?"

"Thanks. I dined on the way up, in a twilight refreshment room, with one waiter and a number of attendant black beetles."

Things were going worse and worse. Sir John smiled, and he was still smiling when the man brought in coffee.

"Yes," he said conversationally, "for speed combined with discomfort I suppose we can hold our heads against any country. Seeing that you are dressed, I supposed that you had dined in town."

"No. I drove straight to my rooms and kept the cab while I dressed. What an important matter this dressing seemed to be! And there were fifteen months behind fifteen months which had aged one of them and sobered the other."

Jack was sitting forward in his chair with his immaculate dress shoes on the fender, his knees apart, his elbows resting on them, his eyes fixed on the fire. Sir John looked keenly at him beneath his frowning, jaded lids. He saw the few gray hairs over Jack's ears, the suggested wrinkles, the drawn lines about his mouth.

"You have been ill?" he said. Joseph's letter was locked away in the top drawer of his writing table.

"Yes, I had rather a bad time, a serious illness. My man nursed me through it, however, with marked success, and the Gordons, with whom I was staying, were very kind."

"I had the pleasure of meeting Miss Gordon."

Jack's face was steady, suavely impenetrable. Sir John moved a little and set his empty cup upon the table.

"A charming girl," he added. "Yes."

"You are fortunate in that man of yours," Sir John said, "a first class man."

"Yes. He saved my life."

Sir John blinked, and for the first time his fingers went to his mouth, as if his lips had suddenly got beyond his control.

"If I may suggest it," he said rather indistinctly, "I think it would be well if we signified our appreciation of his devotion in some substantial way. We might well do something between us."

He paused and threw back his shoulders. "I should like to give him some substantial token of my gratitude."

Sir John was nothing if not just. "Thank you," answered Jack quietly. He turned his head a little and glanced not at his father, but in his direction.

"I should like to see him tomorrow."

Jack winced, as if he had made a mistake. "He is not in England," he explained. "I left him behind me in Africa. He has gone back to the simlacine plantation."

COSSACKS FLOG PEASANTS

FOUR-HOUR ORGY INDULGED IN BY WILD HORSEMEN.

Chief Orders Priests to Administer Last Sacrament to Innocent Men, Who Are Compelled to Beat Relatives.

Kherson, Oct. 2.—Ninety-seven peasants were tried here Monday on the charge of having devastated the estate of M. Khvoshin, formerly minister of railroads.

Sixty-three were sentenced to imprisonment, while 34 were acquitted. The trial brought out a recital of the horrible atrocities committed by the authorities upon the accused.

The chief of the district, accompanied by a detachment of Cossacks, reached the estate soon after the devastation.

All the peasants on the ground were at once gathered in. No investigation was made.

The chief invited priests to administer the last sacrament to the prisoners, and then ordered the Cossacks to beat them all to death. The butchery lasted for four hours.

Twenty-three peasants were killed and 133 were mutilated.

The Cossacks then thoroughly tired out, compelled the peasants to continue flogging each other, and men had to beat their own brothers, sons and fathers.

The victims of this slaughter were innocent, those really guilty having escaped by flight.

In spite of these revelations the court found sentences as related above.

END OF BIG BALLOON RACE

AMERICAN COMPETITOR LANDS ON ENGLISH SOIL.

Airship United States Makes Best Showing in International Race for Bennett Cup.

Paris, Oct. 2.—The Aero club semi-officially announced Monday night that Lieut. Frank P. Lahm of the Sixth United States cavalry, one of the American contestants, was the victor in the first competition for the James Gordon Bennett cup for international aeronauts. The race was started Sunday afternoon when 15 balloons, representing seven countries, sailed away from the Tuilleries gardens, Paris.

Lieut. Lahm's apparent victory may be changed when C. S. Rolls, one of the English contestants, is heard from. Rolls' landing has not yet been recorded, and there is some doubt regarding his relative position. Considerable anxiety is felt for his safety, although his experience and caution are regarded as certain to bring him safely to the ground.

Up to the present time, however, the performance of Lahm and Hershey in the balloon United States in reaching 15 miles, north of Scarborough, England, is the best record attained by any one of the 15 starters. The members of the Aero club are inclined to believe that the United States was only prevented from proceeding farther because a current of air threatened to carry her over the North sea, with no apparent prospect, unless the direction of the wind changed, of finding land before making the coast of Norway.

SHOULD FILE THE STATE RATE.
Interstate Commission Issues General Order on New Rail Law.

Washington, Oct. 2.—The interstate commerce commission has reached a conclusion with respect to the railway rate law which it has embodied in a general order made public Monday. It holds that where a state rate forms a part of an interstate rate the state rate should be filed with the commission. This is an entirely new feature in connection with the operations of the interstate commerce commission.

The further announcement was made that the commission intends, wherever possible, to construe the law in advance without waiting for any particular complaint to be made upon which to base its decision.

Uniform classification will form the subject of a conference by the interstate commerce commission here Tuesday. The object of the meeting is to ascertain if possible if the railroad cannot be induced to agree to the proposition without the necessity of further legislation by congress.

ALLEGED CASE OF BLACKMAIL.
Two Men Charged with Trying to Extort $20,000 from Widow.

Milwaukee, Oct. 2.—E. D. Miller and Fred Stocking, who reside at 735 Franklin street, Milwaukee, were arrested Monday night in connection with the alleged attempt to extort $20,000 from Mrs. Richard T. Robinson of Racine.

The arrest of Miller is said to have been brought about through his efforts to arrange for the transfer of the $20,000 to his credit through the First National bank of Chicago.

Stocking is said by the police to have confessed his guilt, admitting the charges made.

Miller, although closely questioned, denied being guilty, but asserted that he knew who the author of the blackmailing letter was.

Stocking is said, early in the spring, to have supervised the decorating and furnishing of the Robinson home at Racine, as an employee of a Milwaukee concern.
